The book is divided into four parts, each of which covers a different aspect of acting. The first part, "The Foundation," introduces the basic principles of acting, such as character development, scene analysis, and rehearsal techniques. The second part, "The Tools," delves into the specific techniques that actors use to create believable performances, such as vocal projection, body language, and improvisation. The third part, "The Process," provides a step-by-step guide to the rehearsal process, from the initial read-through to the final performance. And the fourth part, "The Business," offers practical advice on how to get started in the acting business, including how to find an agent, audition for roles, and negotiate contracts.

Throughout the book, Meindl shares his own insights and experiences as an actor and a teacher. He also provides numerous exercises and examples to help readers apply the techniques he discusses.
