Fencing Margarita Engle is a captivating historical fiction novel that transports readers to the heart of Cuba's past and present. Through the eyes of a young girl named Margarita, we witness the tumultuous events of the Cuban revolution and the struggles of the Cuban people.

Margarita is a talented fencer, and her passion for the sport helps her to navigate the challenges of her life in Cuba. She trains hard, determined to make the national team and represent her country in the Olympics. But her dreams are threatened by the political turmoil that is sweeping the island.

As the revolution intensifies, Margarita's family is forced to flee their home. They seek refuge in the United States, where Margarita must adjust to a new culture and a new life. But even though she is far from home, Margarita never forgets her roots or her dreams.

Fencing Margarita Engle is a beautifully written and thought-provoking novel that explores the themes of family, identity, and culture. It is a must-read for anyone interested in Cuban history or in coming-of-age stories.
